Above: Tuuci storm-proof sunshades on board the Dorothy Ann superyacht, designed and built by Trinity Yachts. The yacht's interior design is by Claudette Bonville & Associates.

Adjoining: the Dutch firm Blofield is creating a stir with its inflatable chairs and sofas. They recently added an inflatable jacuzzi to their range which now enjoys pride of place in Paris's Lafayette department store.

Top left: detail of a garden presentation by Xavier Loup at Maison & Objet in Paris. The loungers are by Manutti and the 'Yes to Life' sculpture is by Célia Gouveia.

Beside that: two sunbeds from the collection of Harbour, an Australian company that operates world wide.

Below left: outdoor fabrics from Perennials by Ann Sutherland, a pioneer in this particular field. The solution-dyed acrylics are remain colour-fast and entirely suited to outdoor life. Much of the development work for the Perennials collections was carried out by the sadly deceased John Hutton - and his influence is still tangible.
