The Outsiders

Fabrics that can be left out in the cold

▲ Perennials: With its debut collection in 1997, Perennials ushered in a new era of outdoor fabrics. In place of beige and brown came an array of sharp stripes, exotic weaves and modern prints in solution-dyed acrylic that are stain-resistant, fade-proof and ideal for creating chic living rooms that just happen to be outside. Choose from over 500 looks, such as Playful Plaid from their new Outdoor Studio collection. To the trade, 888.322.4773, www.perennialsfabrics.com

◀ SeaCloth: Inspired by beaches, seashells and all things bright and summery, SeaCloth's textiles provide flare for your outdoor furniture. Choose from collections like Splash On and Beach Party, reminiscent of retro Palm Beach, or Gypsy Palette and Watermark, where earth tones take it down to a mellow mood. Starting at $54 per yard. 203.854.4863, www.seacloth.com

◀ Holly Hunt: For those in search of design with sophistication and simplicity, Holly Hunt's Great Outdoors collection combines natural colors—Driftwood, Sunset and Sand—with classic stripes and patterns. With over 20 colors and 10 designs, these fabrics make the transition from outdoor patio play to a parlor tête-à-tête.
