THE OUTDOOR LIVING concept is no longer just a trend, it's a lifestyle, and nearly everything that encompasses a perfect indoor space now has its outdoor counterpart.

From wine-tasting parties on the gazebo's formal dining set to casual conversations with friends on the patio's plush L-shaped sofa, there's little living that's off limits outdoors. And thanks to furnishing manufacturers' innovations, there's something for everyone, in every style.

Many of the year's new outdoor offerings were unveiled this fall at the International Casual Furniture and Accessories Market in Chicago. The annual event showcases new and classic items as well as trends for the season. Here are some of the year's most popular trends seen at the market and now in Seattle-area showrooms.
