MODERN LIFE

PHOTOGRAPHY BY CHRISTOPHER STURMAN

Eight inspired designers reimagine a townhouse at the Dillon in New York City, delivering a home that embraces our modern lives. We love it. Turn the page to see why.

MICHAEL TAVANO OUTDOOR TERRACE

Envisioning an open-air oasis for dinner parties, cocktail gatherings, and weekend relaxation, Tavano created a lush yet livable terrace with Restoration Hardware's Mulholland Collection and Perennials outdoor velvets. "The bronze on the sleek Mulholland pieces develops a rich patina, adding a luxurious texture and a feeling of permanence," he says. A golden cabana from Designlush defines the lounge area, separating it from the dining space beyond. "I cut bright-blue Plexiglas to top Restoration Hardware's Lava Rock Propane Tank Covers, creating little cocktail tables," Tavano says. Colorful, easy-to-update pillows and accessories rev up pieces in neutral colors, and strategic garden plantings from Erbology provide greenery, to further define this urban oasis.
