

SAN DIEGO HOME/GARDEN

LIFESTYLES

FALL INTERIOR DESIGN REPORT

OCTOBER 2016 $4.95

$4.95

A convivial home in North County
Transforming a Del Mar landscape

A tiered, crystal chandelier and deep gray upper walls over creamy, molded lower walls lend an aura of elegance in the formal dining room.

around a fire pit and "happy hour" plants (lime trees, mint and basil) grow within reach. Just beyond stands a large fountain with a herringbone design and gray porcelain tile.

"I wanted a fountain that was beautiful, but also that my kids could play in with abandon," Bridy says.

On a recent day, she and Kurt entertained five families, each with three children. As parents chatted over drinks, the kids splashed in the fountain and frolicked in the sandbox.

In working with Kurt and Bridy to design an indoor/outdoor space that was both beautiful for entertaining and functional for them, Brittney saw a great opportunity to experiment.

"Bridy would say, 'Just do it. You decide. Whatever you think.' It allowed me to push some limits and get creative," she says. ✨

